

SkyCloud Networks

Public Apology to the People of Vanuatu

For the last few weeks a newly formed business, SkyCloud Networks who is dedicated to the supply of fast, efficient telecommunication services has been providing a telecommunications service to the public. It has been brought to our attention by the Telecommunications and Radiocommunications Regulator (TRR) that we are in breach of the Telecommunications and Radiocommunications Regulation Act of 2009 and on behalf of the management of Skycloud Networks, we greatly apologize for our actions. Steps have been taken to rectify the matter and SkyCloud Networks confirms that it will abide by the rules and laws governing the sector.

Our aim is to always operate within the law. We were under the misapprehension that we were in fact operating within the Act. We have vowed to rectify this immediately and stopped the provision of telecommunications services to the public until the license was issued. As of Thursday 24th October 2013 our Telecommunications license has been issued and we will grow our business to provide the best possible service and support to the people of Vanuatu. We also apologize to our potential customers for any inconvenience this might have caused.

If you would like more information on how to get the fastest Internet experience that is available in Vanuatu now we have our license, please call SkyCloud Networks on 24444, email us on info@skycloudnetworks.com or pop into Emily's 24/7 Café to experience it yourself.

SkyCloud Networks

The Independent/L'Indépendant - Saturday 26 October, 2013