

TRR has not uploaded Telsat's response because TRR regards some aspects of it being offensive and disrespectful. The tone of Telsat's response is unacceptable and well below the standard of civil discourse that is appropriate in a regulatory consultation process in some sections. In that respect, some of the language is rude in its context both to TRR and to current and potential users of internet services.

Telsat's response will be provided upon request.