TRBR Donated Smart TVs – Supporting Digital Health Awareness at VNH

The Telecommunications, Radiocommunications and Broadcasting Regulator (TRBR) has demonstrated its support for the Vanuatu National Hospital's 50th Golden Jubilee by donating two smart TV screens.

The initiative aims to strengthen digital health awareness messages and campaigns. Through this donation, TRBR hopes to enhance patients' waiting experience by providing entertainment, serving as a platform for important announcements, and delivering educational health tips and messages.

Coverage Check at North West Malekula

As part of its ongoing efforts to ensure reliable telecommunications services, the Telecommunications, Radiocommunications and Broadcasting Regulator (TRBR) recently conducted quality of service (QoS) testing in Malekula, specifically in the Northwest A and Northwest B areas.

The findings from this assessment will guide TRBR's discussions with telecom operators to drive service upgrades and improvements, ensuring communities receive better connectivity.

CONSUMER AWARENESS

Ending the month of August with two successful awareness sessions in two locations.

On 12th August, International Youth Day was marked with TRBR partnering with Smart Sistas and Cert Vanuatu during an event organized by the Vanuatu National Youth Council, to run awareness and educational programs on different ICT areas for young people. It was heart-warming to see youths crowding the booths in search of knowledge and awareness.

Later in the month, TRBR team also held awareness in Santo during Luganville Day, reaching out to the public to share about TRBR's services, how they can benefit from them, and the importance of safe and smart ICT use.
